

Seamless Connectivity and Call Routing Across IP Phones, Intercoms, and VoIP Devices

KEY FEATURES

- ✓ Flexible call routing
- ✓ Location independence
- ✓ Robust PBX solution

Integrating Aiphone IX|IXG Series with Code Blue Interconnect creates a communication path that reaches beyond the local network by enabling intercom calls to be routed across IP phones, mobile devices, and third-party answering services. By using standard ten-digit numbers, teams have more freedom in how and where they respond. This flexibility removes location barriers, which is especially useful for distributed security teams or sites that need after-hours coverage.

Code Blue Interconnect is a platform that streamlines deployment and ongoing upkeep. Instead of performing maintenance on site servers or complex SIP infrastructure, organizations get cloud-based registration and dialing services that support DID, e911, and call routing. This approach lowers the cost of infrastructure and reduces the time needed to configure each device. Teams get a smoother path to scaling their communication network while ensuring every call reaches the right place.

Code Blue Interconnect and Aiphone provide a dependable communication link that strengthens visibility and call management. Security desks get clearer paths to respond, supervisors have more mobility, and organizations get a modern communication backbone that adapts as their needs change. Our integration creates an agile and resilient workflow that keeps people connected no matter where they are located.
