

Bring Aiphone intercoms and video management together with OpenEye

KEY FEATURES

- ✓ Stream and record 24/7
- ✓ Trigger relays
- ✓ Search intelligently
- ✓ Monitor across multiple sites

Maximize the capabilities of this integration by taking advantage of the comprehensive video management features available in OpenEye Web Services. By integrating Aiphone IX|IXG Series intercoms, you can leverage a flexible and scalable video monitoring solution designed for modern security operations across single sites or distributed environments.

Along with any connected IP cameras, audio and video from intercoms can be streamed and recorded within OpenEye Command Station. Intercom activity can be captured around the clock and reviewed as part of routine video investigations.

Intercom relays, call events, and door related actions can be tied into OpenEye workflows, allowing operators to respond to visitors, alarms, and incidents directly from Command Station without switching applications.

Intercom video clips can be searched using timeline views, thumbnails, events, and time based filters, making it easy to locate and review interactions tied to specific calls or incidents.

With OpenEye’s cloud portal, IX|IXG Series intercom stations can be monitored across multiple sites through Command Station, giving operators a consistent interface for managing intercom and video activity from anywhere.
